PREFACE.

- The present volume represents the second instalment of index to the correspondence between the authorities in Bengal and the Court of Directors for the period 1771 to 1858. It comprises, broadly speaking, correspondence between the Court and the Revenue Department at Calcutta, but the term "Revenue Department" includes a great variety of authorities and subjects which may be briefly summarised as follows:—

Prior to the year 1775 the Revenue Authority, with whom the Court were corresponding, was the Comptrolling Committee of Revenue (from the 1st of April, 1771, to the 10th of October, 1772), and subsequently the Revenue Board consisting of the whole Council (from the 13th of October, 1772, to the 31st of December, 1774). The Revenue Department of the Governor-General in Council was not constituted till the 6th of January, 1775, and it continued to exist under this name till the 24th of November, 1815. During that period it dealt, in addition to revenue matters proper, with a number of subsidiary departments. These are as follows:—

Main Series—

(1) Judicial Branch	.. 6th August, 1790 to 26th April, 1793.
(2) Salt, Opium	.. 1790 to April, 1793.
(3) Customs	.. 1790 to September, 1793 : May, 1809 to 1819.

Separate Series—

(4) Sayer	.. August, 1790 to July, 1805.
(5) Wards	.. August, 1790 to May, 1805.
(6) Grain	.. October, 1794 to October, 1803.
(7) Mint	.. January, 1795 to July, 1805.
(8) Khalsa	.. 2nd October, 1776 to 28th December, 1779.

Letters in all these Branches were combined into a General Series in 1805.

From the 28th November, 1815, to the 10th November, 1834, the Revenue Department was known as the Territorial Department and was sub-divided into three branches—Territorial Revenue, Territorial Finance, and Territorial Separate (Salt and Opium). Before the end of this period a Miscellaneous Revenue Department dealing with canals, embankments, irrigation, roads, bridges, buildings, abkari, house tax, pilgrim tax, pensions, wards, etc., was constituted from the 1st of May, 1828, and its correspondence is included with that of the Territorial Department.

2. In the year 1834, the correspondence of the Governor of Bengal was separated from that of the Governor-General and we then have a Revenue Department of the Governor of Bengal from the 24th November, 1834, up to the 29th April, 1854. Before the end of this period, however, viz., in June, 1841, the Miscellaneous Revenue Department dealing with the matters enumerated in the preceding paragraph had ceased to exist as a separate entity and these subjects were dealt with in the main Revenue Department from 1841 to 1852. This Miscellaneous Revenue Department came into existence again in January, 1853, and lasted till December, 1858, dealing with the subjects of salt and opium. Meanwhile, the Revenue Department as a whole had become that of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal and not of the Governor of Bengal with effect from the 4th of May, 1854.

3. For further information as to the subjects dealt with in this Department at different times reference should be made to the Catalogue of the English Records preserved in the Historical Record Room of the Government of Bengal (1758-1858). It is the object of the present index, taking the correspondence and the General Letters between the Revenue Department and the Court as they stand, to afford a clue to the mass of detailed information in the correspondence which there is at present no method of tracing. It should be explained that these General Letters almost invariably refer to the Consultations relating to the subjects touched on paragraph by paragraph; and in this way when once a clue can be found in the General Letters it is generally possible for a matter of local interest to be traced in considerable detail among the manuscript records.

4. As in the previous volume, the underlying idea has been to make the material available to the fullest extent for the local historian. Place names have been grouped as far as possible under their respective districts, and names of Government officers have been indexed whenever there seems any possibility that they may be of interest to subsequent enquirers. It has not been found possible, however, without giving the index too predominantly the character of a list of personal names to index in their alphabetical position all names that occur. Members of specialized services have therefore been grouped under the services in which they were employed.

5. The number of volumes in each of the Departments included in this Index is as follows:—
